Disaster Restoration Services

As a part of OSU's disaster response plan, the University has established contracts with three restoration companies to hopefully shorten the disruption and downtime following a catastrophic event.

These companies can provide fast, emergency intervention to stabilize critical components so that facilities and mission-critical equipment, vital records and computers can be saved and quickly restored. Having three companies under contract ensures that we have access to restoration services whenever and wherever they are needed throughout the OSU System.

As part of their rapid response in mitigating property damage caused by fire, smoke, water, chemical contamination, storms, etc., they can provide equipment such as generators, dehumidifiers, temperature control equipment, air compressors, or whatever the situation requires to assist in restoring facilities to at least a pre-loss condition.

These services should be coordinated through Risk Management and Environmental Health & Safety, who will work closely with the affected departments, Physical Plant, and other campus administrators to restore order in as short a time as possible.
